

Cloud PBX

When you connect people, amazing things happen.

When you connect people, amazing things happen.

Efficient communications are central to any thriving organisation, allowing colleagues, customers and suppliers to collaborate freely on projects.

In spite of today's multitude of communications options, sometimes nothing beats the personal touch of a voice conversation.

TechPath's Cloud PBX phone plans make efficient business call systems easy and extraordinarily cost-effective.

When Australian businesses need smooth, efficient business call flow systems, they turn to TechPath. Our Cloud PBX phone plans can be put in place within hours, so you can start saving phone costs the same day.

What is Cloud PBX?

A PBX is the telephony hardware responsible for routing your organisation's calls between different extensions. Normally, this has resided on business premises.

Thanks to new technologies, PBX hardware no longer needs to be kept on-site or purchased up-front. For many businesses, avoiding the capital expenditure of telephony hardware, and the resource drain of managing that hardware, is an attractive proposition.

Cloud PBX provides advanced call routing services that are managed by TechPath. This means you escape handling the technical side of phone systems, while enjoying the benefits of a premium quality system for a predictable monthly cost.

What are the benefits?

Aside from saving on capital costs, there are a number of advantages to TechPath Cloud PBX.

Of course, you get all the features you'd expect from an in-house system, such as voicemail, faxes, automated greetings and conference calls.

Unlike traditional PBX services, Hosted PBX makes advanced technology available for smaller businesses and branch offices without the usually high associated costs.

Because the hardware is managed by TechPath, you do not have to spend time managing a voice system, performing time-consuming upgrades or maintaining equipment.

There are no maintenance costs, just a fixed monthly cost and some very attractive call rates to Australian and overseas telephone numbers.

Performance

When your customers call, they will not notice any difference in call quality to your traditional on-premise PBX system. It is likely they will enjoy the benefits of TechPath's efficiency-boosting options such as routing calls to another available employee when their first choice is unavailable, instead of hearing a busy tone.

"Communication is the lifeblood of any business, and in a growing and dynamic market, a powerful business call flow system is vital. TechPath's PBX plans help you keep in touch with customers, colleagues and community – all for a very attractive cost."

Increased mobility

Today's workforce is no longer restricted to a single location, either within the office or on the go. Cloud PBX from TechPath allows mobile users access from multiple locations.

Accessible

Cloud PBX means that your users can be accessible anywhere they have internet access, so working from home or travelling between offices allows for smoother communications than ever. Your customers and business stakeholders benefit from accessing your people without difficulty.

Consistency

Even if you have multiple, diverse locations, they can be tied together on a single system, making it easier for you to pool resources and give customers greater access to your services.

Simple

Supporting a PBX in-house can be a drain on your valuable technology resources. Cloud PBX is very simple to administer, quick to deploy and easy to adjust configuration to reflect any business changes.
